重陽節

Chongyang Festival

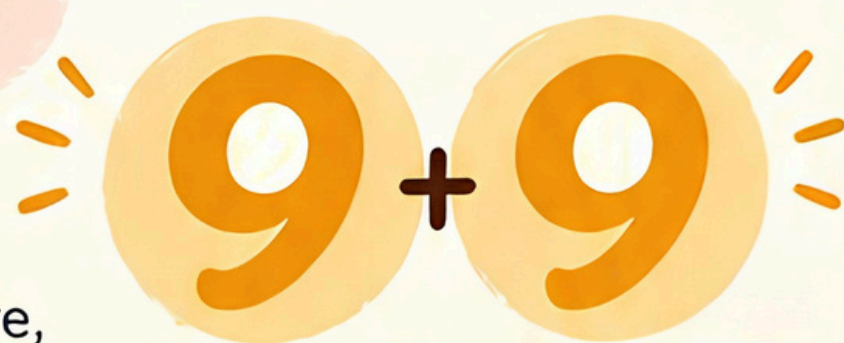

The Double Ninth Festival

A traditional Chinese festival to honor elders, celebrate good health, and embrace the beauty of autumn.

On the 9th day of the 9th lunar month
(usually in October)

Why is it called "Double Ninth"?

It falls on the 9th day of the 9th lunar month. In Chinese culture, 9 is a lucky number, symbolizing longevity, health and happiness. So it's called the Double Ninth Festival!

Double 9 = Good Fortune

What do people do?

Climb mountains

It's believed that higher places bring good luck and a healthier life.

Appreciate chrysanthemums

Chrysanthemums are the symbol of this festival. They represent resilience, joy and a long life.

Honor and care for elders

Families spend time together, showing respect and gratitude to older generations.

The Meaning

Respect for elders

Good health and long life

Family
togetherness

Beauty of autumn

More than just a holiday...

Chongyang Festival is a beautiful reminder to slow down, take care of the people we love, appreciate nature, and wish for a long and happy life.

It's a celebration of life,
family and gratitude.

重陽

Long life and happiness for everyone!
